

THE GLEICHEN CALL

VOLUME XXXV NO. 41

GLEICHEN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY

DECEMBER 23, 1942

SUBSCRIPTION $2.00 PER YEAR

ITEMS OF INTEREST OF THE TOWN AND DISTRICT

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Bolinger have left for a visit to the United States.

A large number of Gleichen soldiers and airmen members are expected to be in town for the holiday season.

A large crowd attended the Meadobrook Christmas entertainment and dance Friday evening.

Wm. Schmidt took a day of from labor in Calgary to spend a couple of days in Gleichen looking after his property here and meeting his old friends.

Gen. C. House, the Arrowwood ranger spent a couple of days in town last week selling a portion of his estate. Mr. House is reducing the size of his herd owing to his inability to obtain the necessary help to look after the stock.

The busiest men in town are Postmaster T. Bates and his assistant S. T. Purcell. The Xmas rush of mail keeps them busy during the month of the day. At night however, this rush will be over in another day or two then they can sit back and enjoy a peaceful smoke.

For the past week R. S. Hawkyne has had on display in his butcher shop a beef carcass which everybody is trying to guess how much it weighs. There is a small charge of 10 cents and when you guess the correct weight or nearest correct weight will receive a carving set. Any profits on the contest will go to the Red Cross.

Ted Varnell, who joined the R.C.A.F. a month or two ago is having a tough time of it in Edmonton. Shortly after he joined he was called to the hospital for a check up. He was found to have a bad cold and recovering he returned to duty. A few days ago his parents received a letter from him stating he would not be home for Xmas as he was back in the hospital suffering from some other ailment.

During the past few days the Indians have been keeping a very busy day since they have a lot of extra money this Xmas to blow in. In fact they have more money this Xmas than ever before. They are preparing for a Xmas celebration in their style and expect that day will stage big doings at their hall. Starting about 2:30 in the afternoon they will sit down to Xmas dinner. Several hours later when all have eaten and the girls have cleaned up and stowed away they will put on their annual dance which will likely last all night.

Newspaper is the great national book. It penetrates into the heart of nearly every family and does it work. It can drop the same idea into the minds of thousands at the same time. There are no people who can read nothing else, almost no one reads that does not read a newspaper, and hence as an advertising medium it is by far the cheapest and best. Although some of the visitors do not think every business man worthy of the name who wishes to prosper and become a power in the land will have to keep the word, advertisement and news in their hands. It's let an opportunity pass to make your name and business favorably known.

Reduction in the cost of motor insurance in this province was urged in a resolution adopted at the annual meeting of the Alberta Motor Association. In view of the restrictions on fuel supply brought about by federal rationing regulations, and also the fact that the province is not in a position to keep highways up to past standards, due to wartime priorities it was felt that lower license fees should be imposed on motorists for the duration of the war. The province has a free hand in making its own decision, it was stated. At the same time, the province, under the tax transfer agreement with the dominion is guaranteed a sum of $2,000,000 annually for the period of the war on the basis of 1940 collections. A delegation from the motor association will interview the government to urge a reduction in motor license fees next year.

Another Christmas

The flying years have brought around another Christmastide, the happiest of all seasons. Whatever our differences or disagreements may be, we can all agree to forget them when Christmas comes and the general spirit of good fellowship flowing through our hearts generates good will to all.

It is really a marvelous thing that the Man of Galilee, born 1942 years ago, should have, by his life and example, furnished such a noble model to the world of how people should live. Down the centuries His influence has leavened the feelings of those who profess to be His followers particularly at Christmas time.

All of us humans have failings and weaknesses. We are the victims to our passions and our desires. We find it hard to live up to the moral code. We find it difficult to follow in the steps of the Christ. We tend to be bad and find it hard to be good.

Christmastime, however, ameliorates some of the bitterness and strife of life, chastening the hearts and minds of all Christian people. Consequently there is a mirth and jollity during the festive season which is not known in another period of the year.

PRESNTATION MADE BY TOWNSPEOPLE TO F.O. A. CLIFFORD, D.F.C.

Last night a large number of citizens of the town and district met in the Community Hall to honor F.O. Arthur Clifford, D.F.C., who recently returned from Egypt on furlough after an absence of three years. The evening spent in dancing.

Shortly after 11 o'clock after lunch had been served, Mayor W. E. Thompson took the floor told why Art had won the Distinguished Flying Cross and what had done for the country in the Middle East. He then called the Flying Officer to the middle of the floor and from behind the citizens of Gleichen presented him with a ring.

In reply Art said "I thank you all for the present in a few well chosen words thanked the audience. After which the crowd gave three resounding cheers and sang for "He's a Jolly Good Fellow". During the presentation the band played for an hour or so.

Art has since left for Vancouver to visit his mother and sisters, and on his return will stop in Gleichen for a day or two before proceeding to Ottawa.

BOMBER PRESS WITNESS A.R.P. WORKING TOP SPEED

By Walter R. Legge.
One does not have to stay in England long to realize that the work of A.R.P. work is not simple and we Canadians become quickly convinced that much more serious attention to these precautions should be given.

Much of the work of the army which we saw was in the form of demonstrations, but we had an opportunity to study A.R.P. work in actual practice over there.

We were invited to headquarters one afternoon to learn that a short time before some raiders had come over the vicinity and had caused considerable damage to a very large apartment hotel. Four of our party including myself went down to see just what had happened.

We found that the building which had been struck was a tremendously large apartment house, nine stories in height, with largest room than an army barracks block. It was a projecting block at each end. There were probably a hundred or more apartments of three or more rooms each in the building which had suffered relatively new fireproof block, largely of cement and stone construction. It was a building which would not easily be damaged.

We had been struck directly in front of the centre of the building only a few feet from the wall in the courtyard formed by the three walls of the building.

As there had been some casualties, considerable damage to the building, and which was a type of building comparable to the heavier type of buildings in Canada it was an ideal situation for us to study from the standpoint of what could be done to minimize damage.

WORKERS SOON ON THE JOB

The first thing that struck us was the tremendous activity all over the place. Although it was only a few hours after the bomb had struck, there were hundreds of men at work at top speed.

Police and guards kept all except workers from going closer to the building. The workers were mostly interested in their organization, and we wanted to study with the idea of telling to the people of Canada, we presented our credentials and asked permission to enter the building.

Here we found a group of workers who were working amicably and efficiently and so personally took us around, introducing us to the heads of the various sections, and explaining what they were doing and how they carried out their duties.

He also took us through a part of the building, (it would have taken too long to go through it all) to see what the effect of such a bombing was.

Then the event of a bombing causing such damage two things started at once, looking for casualties and summoning the members of the A.R.P.

This is what is known as the alarm bell system to summon the members, that is, each man has to call four others. In this way all the members are very quickly notified.

SETTING UP OPERATIONS

As soon as possible all men are removed the first thing is to set up a main office which keeps in close touch with everything that is done. In this case the office is located in a suitable place is taken, the office work is broken down so that there is a section looking after each activity.

After this is done the next thing is to take care of the tank men, working in little groups as it takes to tell about it.

Then an intensive search of the building is made with the double purpose of ascertaining if there is anyone still alive and to try to find if the building can be repaired, and what will require to do this. At the same time any bodies not previously removed are taken away.

Another group, working round the clock, is engaged in salvaging what can be saved by quick work, and this is followed by a more leisurely effort to salvage everything possible. Transportation must be arranged as required.

Other groups are arranging for food, providing money where necessary.

are, to the unfortunate victims, and a housing department finds accommodation for bombed out people if they have no other place to go.

If, as it was in this case, it is possible to repair buildings, workers and owners are called to start work at once. Otherwise debris is more or less cleaned up and replacement postponed until after the war.

All these various groups were on the job at once carrying out their tanks as it were everyday routine.

On the street in front of the building was a canteen truck which bore on its sides a sign showing that it had been presented to the Lord

Southern Rhodesia by Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

In the courtyard were a number of men sweeping the grass. One of our party called attention to them remarking that there was an example of typical British efficiency, to which (Continued on another page)

The War In 1942

AT THE CLOSE of the year 1942 we may look back with pride on the part that Canada has played in the momentous events of the past twelve months. During that period Canadian troops fought the Germans for the first time, and their heroic conduct at Dieppe won admiration and confidence throughout the United Nations. Canadian sailors and airmen have fought in many parts of the world in the past year and they have taken an increasingly important place in the war effort. The production of war materials has reached heights which were unforeseen, and the beginning of the war. The output of war materials is today three times what it was a year ago, and Canada is now the third largest arsenal among the United Nations. At the outbreak of the war Canada had the capacity for making only a small amount of war materials, but now it can produce more than twice the amount of requirements. In our own armed forces, but is sufficient to allow large quantities to be sent to our Allies. Over half the machinery in Canada today is being used to produce war materials, and we may be justly proud of this ever-increasing flow of supplies coming from our war industries.

Inflation Has Been Avoided The average Canadian citizen doubtless feels that considering that we are in the midst of the greatest struggle in history, we in Canada have had much for which to be thankful during the past year. Inflation is one of the greatest evils of war, and this has been successfully avoided here, in the cost of living, and in wages. The average Canadian has brought about some hardships and inconveniences, but these have been small, indeed, compared to the consequences of inflation. Incomes have been high, but the taxes this year have covered one half of the country's expenditure on the war. The other half has been covered by war savings. If we can cover our war expenses, then will be a staggering war debt. We are not in the position of a people who are in financial trouble. Canada's financial position was sound, and it has continued so, despite of the strain placed upon it by the financing of the war. Of the eight billion dollars, which is now Canada's national income, much was available to the government for war savings in 1942. In this, as in every other phase of the war effort, we must maintain and if possible increase our contribution.

Turning Point May Have Come It is possible that when the history of this war is written it will be said that the year 1942 marked the turning of the tide of battle in favour of the United Nations. During this year the Allies have for the first time it has been possible for them to send fully equipped forces into the field, and to keep them supplied. The Allied air forces have carried out devastating attacks on enemy countries, and we have seen our airmen grow day by day in numbers and in strength. At sea, our losses have been few, and the rate of return to us has been correspondingly enormous. The war in the United States has been able to maintain supply routes with increasing success. We have seen General Rommel's army put to flight in Libya; the Allied successes in West Africa and in the Pacific. Russia and China have held firm and they remain powerful and determined Allies. We have had reverses, and Mr. Churchill has told us that there will be others. But these are details, and the past year has marked a change for the better in the situation of the United Nations, and we can look with hope and confidence to the beginning of a new year.

THE WAR FOR 28 YEARS The last war began when we at war with Germany for 28 years! The Mauz Government declared war in 1914—but were never invited to Versailles, and therefore did not sign the peace. So no new declaration was needed in 1939!

Factory Workers are becoming more and more numerous, and it seems likely that they have come to stay—a war idea to help workers with their personal problems. Scores of Lance,壮士 cotton mill and engineering works have now their own pads.

LUCIEN ROY

Crash of an Air Force plane on the west coast brought an untimely end to one of the best-known motion picture cameramen in Canada. He is Lucien Roy, 38, who met his death in a plane crash at Victoria, B.C., while on assignment to film the activities of Western Air Command. Roy has filmed the news in all parts of Canada for Associated Screen News Limited, Montreal, with whom he was working at the time of his accident. His zest for life and jovial manner made him friends in every province of the Dominion, from prime ministers to porters. His films have covered events of national importance, and leading personalities of Canada for 12 years.

GERMANY, Publish A Book On Engulfed The Hitler Period

Among the emerging nations, particularly in a German rubber dry-goods recovered recently was a packet of cigarettes. Inside were some coupons and an announcement that a 50-cent bonus would be given for each complete sequence and repeated it with four different series, he could for the price of one mark receive a copy of "An Art Publication" entitled "Engulfed"—The Robotic Period.

The German Government, it was assured: "This highly vivid work gives us a penetrating insight into the questionable methods which England and her empire since time immemorial have adopted to draw in the world power. The text and 125 historical pictorial documents—most of them published for the first time—reveal with all clarity the true character of our country across the centuries."

If this subject makes no appeal, there are alternative offers. The smoker can apply for an art album dealing with the Hitler period. For those patients he must fall back on a pamphlet dealing with the life of the Führer!—Argus, Brighton, England.

Bank Executives Support Wartime Taxes, Prices and Trade Controls

HUNDRED R. DRUMMOND, Bank of Montreal President, Suggests That High Taxation and Controls Are Justified, for Duration Only — Sees Need for Freedom of Enterprise With Return of Peace

G. W. SPINNEY, General Manager, Reviews Bank's 125th Year—Discusses War Finance—Says Government Financing Through Chartered Banks Being Kept Within Reasonable and Manageable Proportions

Efforts by the Government to full the Government in its stupendous task of financing the war, observing: "We can fairly claim that the Canadian banking system has more than justified its existence, and, with unfaltering facts, the public's entire confidence in the safety of the State taking over the banks."

General Manager's Review

G. W. Spinney, general manager, reviewed, in his address to the meeting of the Canadian Bankers Association last week, the year referred to as the increase in total assets to $175,319,000 during the year, up from $164,040,000 in the previous fiscal period. Total quick assets, he pointed out, amounted to $10,650 per cent. of all liabilities to the public.

Wide expansion in industrial production has been under government direction and control, with the growth of production having overtaken the output, he emphasized that these controls will not, and cannot, obtain after the war.

Describing the income tax, he said: "It is probably the highest in the Atlantic Nations," and covering practically the entire population. He added that nevertheless, the cheerful acceptance of hardship by all Canadians had been outstanding, and that the courage shown by the public for the future, in this connection, however, he pointed out, was rather remarkable. As far as the shoulders of free enterprise stand, these other freedoms that go to make up the Canadian way of life, freedom of speech, freedom of labour and equality before the law.

Bank Earnings Restricted

During the year the bank's assets and deposits reached new high levels: deposits increased by $1,000 million, and compared with $1,000 million in the preceding year, while deposits—the safety of which has been maintained at $1,000,000,000. Earnings showed a small increase, but not $2,540,000 which the government's policy of restricting dividends had caused the price of shares to drop sharply.

HALFWAY HOUSE

BY

MICHAEL TRENT

CHAPTER XI.

A High way whizzed around Halfway House that night. There was no moon; black clouds piled up against the sky. Anne didn't have dinner, she lay in bed, feeling terribly unhappy, and she was afraid others would notice it. Her mind in its depths was full of him, and it was hard to hide pain. Especially hard to hide it from Rhea Marshall.

Anne had been waiting around Halfway House that night. There was no moon; black clouds piled up against the sky. Anne didn't have dinner, she lay in bed, feeling terribly unhappy, and she was afraid others would notice it. Her mind in its depths was full of him, and it was hard to hide pain. Especially hard to hide it from Rhea Marshall.

Anne heard the girl say, "Did any of you notice that he talked with an actual fear, moving on to the lobby. She went into the office, sat at the desk, and went over her hair. A little later Rhea appeared in the doorway, asking if she might come in. They made themselves friendly, but there was a narrow bright hardness in her eyes as she watched and stood looking down at Anne.

"I want to discuss my husband with you," said Miss Lovry, bluntly. "Steve imagined he's in love with you, but he is rather weak when you speak of him with concern." Her eyes flicked over Anne. "And you're pretty," she said. Steve would have been pleased by your 'innocent sweetness?' But no matter what he feels for you, he is my man, and I do not intend to give him up."

She paused, and Anne said flatly, "On the basis of Marshall's record?"

"Mrs. Hayes," the girl corrected, "I came to tell you that if you attempted to court further between us, and I shall never know who I know about John Blake—or rather, about Erich Kruger. That is clear, Mrs. Lovry."

Anne stood up, though she felt weak, and she began to walk away, hating her as she had never hated anyone before. "That's very clever," she said. "I'll be sure to let you know the intention of coming between you and Steve since I learned that you are engaged to him."

"Steve, I think, will be good to hear it." His voice was roughened.

"Don't worry about that," Rhea said. "He's a good boy, and he loves me. She turned and went out, and Anne closed her face with her hands, covered her face with her hands, and was sobbing, and bruised, as from slapping. She was like that when Steve was here.

He filled the office doorway, tall and broad-shouldered in his uniform. There was a look of anger in his eyes. He said, "Anne, we've got to talk. Don't say we've no need of an explanation. You know John Blake, and he's good to hear it!" His voice was roughened.

"Will it be him or someone where we can have an interview?"

"Steve, you owe me no explanation, and I'll tell him nothing. Please let me alone."

She got up and walked across the room to the vinyl-lined door. She stepped out onto the veranda, and gust of wind took her breath away. It was cold. She was suddenly cold, inside and out, and she shivered, closing the door.

"He has surprised me," Anne. "I told you I love you and I meant it. I was in love with no other girl, and I'm not sure I ever will be in love again. I married him, yes. I married Rhea, yes. I married Rhea four years ago, when I thought she was the most desirable thing in the world."

Italian Cities Are R.A.F. Targets

NAPLES, ITALIAN PORT

MILAN, INDUSTRIAL CENTRE

Of the several cities pounded steadily by the R.A.F., Milan is one of the most popular targets. In northern Italy, it is a chief financial centre and probably the wealthiest manufacturing and commercial town. Beautiful Naples, to the south on the northern shores of the Bay of Naples, has a port second only to Genoa's and is of important strategic value.

down, but the torrential rain that seemed to follow did not come. Then, inside, a trip home on an errand in the afternoon. He returned excited, reporting to Anne that Mr. Blake had been captured as an escaped prisoner. The sheriff's posse had been sent to bring him in, and a deputy came in today saying that they found Mr. Blake's trail. A man had followed his tracks in the forest. His trail wandered, but he had lost his tracks, and had back toward mountains around Halfway House.

Anne had a look of mortal fear. She could picture Erich wandering about through the endless forests and hills, hunting for him. It was a frightening picture.

Burke went on: "The posse wants to bring him in, but he's still causing trouble. They say he's set fire to the timber in the forest, and he's still another. With this high a fire a wind could destroy millions of acres before he'd be caught."

"It would be a lot of danger," Anne said simply. "I suspected Blake. I convinced him that set fire to the timber in the forest, and he's still another. With this high a fire a wind could destroy millions of acres before he'd be caught."

"He wouldn't set that fire, Steve," Anne said, her voice ragged. "He isn't like that. I know—he's been friends with me for a long time."

One morning a girl named Hilda was on duty that night. She must have heard something about Anne's secret, and she broke into Anne again. "You shouldn't have married him, Anne. He can still have a lot of a lot of danger."

That was a terrific roar, like the sound of the surf of an angry sea and with it a constant explosive crack. The fire crackled and flamed.

Then the fire was right in the big red glow and Drew Lowry's happen fed was painted a strange color by the light.

He called, "Anne, the whole forest is afire! It's clear out on Halfway House! We've got to get out away!"

There was a terrific roar, like the sound of the surf of an angry sea and with it a constant explosive crack. The fire crackled and flamed.

To understand you must dream, to read names, symbols. Have you dreamed of falling? You fear a loss of security. To dream of climbing, climbing, reaching, climbing, ambition, goals. Dreams in a climb, a sort of happiness you deserve.

She walked by the girl, into the room, and then into the bathroom. She was trembling, shivering with strange inner chill.

She had been thinking all that night, all the next day, making outdoor activity most unpleasant and Halfway House was like a sanctuary. The sky was black with clouds pressing

The Meaning Of Empire

Is Something Hitler And Hitler
Boys Do Not Know

The Victoria Colonist says: "The Empire of free peoples is what is the basis of this war; not the empire of the jungle which Hitler Hitler will create. This is the real substitution for the world. One of the greatest Romans, when asked what were his politics replied—As Diomene recalled Imperium et libertatem. Those who are able to relate the word 'empire' when it is related to the British domain might well recall what Edmund Burke did in his speech on conciliation with America. 'Men in power in politics not seldom the truest friends to a great empire and little minds go ill together.'

Safety shelters are now being built in London from 100 to 300 feet below the ground, with hospitals, restaurants, shops and telephones. It is accepted by most authorities that deer came to this continent by way of a land bridge from Asia to Alaska.

SET BAD EXAMPLE

The Victoria Colonist in Salem, Oregon delayed the start of its services to announce that a member of the congregation had left his automobile motor running. "Here is an opportunity for us to demonstrate our patriotism and our sense of responsibility," he said, reading the car license number. Oregon's governor, Charles Prager, hurriedly left and returned a couple of minutes later.

It is accepted by most authorities that deer came to this continent by way of a land bridge from Asia to Alaska.

Gladys—Was the bracelet Charlie gave you set with precious stones, Dorothy—Precious few.

Lady Customer (irritably)—Why is it I never get what I ask for in this shop?

Mrs. Hayes—Perhaps it's because we're too polite, mam.

She—How many of these doughnuts?" asked Brown.

"I did," replied his wife, proudly. "Keep the recipe—you have the answer to the rubor shortage."

She—What an tease here dark specks on dis here dead cake calories.

Boader—Hey! I found a nickel in my hash.

Laudry—Yes, I put it there. You've been complaining about the lack of change in your meals.

The Optimist—By the way, Mary, did you try cooking outfit in the bag? I'll want to fry some of the fish for lunch.

Hifus—Yes, dear, and you'll find a can of sardines there, too.

"I trust careful attention is being given to my boy's manners?" wrote the fond parent.

"Dear madam," the headmaster replied, "your boy has no manners, only customs. But we do not despair."

Brown—My wife thinks of nothing but motoring and golfing. I'm getting tired of it.

Friend—Well, at least she's in the fashion.

Friend—Yes, but she's such a failure—use it. In golf she hits nothing, and when motoring she hits everything.

"Strange," said the first tramp meditatively, "how few of our youthful dreams ever come true!"

"Dumb," said his companion. "I remember when I used to dream about wearin' long trousers, and now I guess I wear 'em longer than any one else in the country."

Small Remittances

Postal Note Scrip For Small Remittances

The postal note department announced that two new denominations of postal note scrip, in values of 10 and 25 cents, now are being issued to cover small remittances separately.

The announcement said scrip in these denominations may be offered for sale to the public at face value for small remittances and in instances where the smaller denominations of postal notes are not readily available.

Scrip in denominations of one, two and five cents is already in circulation.
